

Abstract of the Disclosure

[0020] The disclosed device is a food transporting device that enables food transport for cooking with limited spillage and reduced actual, direct contact between user and food objects.

- 5 The disclosed device comprises a flat base, a rounded end for gripping, and a pair of sidewalls attached to a side of the flat base and extending perpendicularly upward therefrom, the flat base, rounded end and pair of sidewalls defining a holding volume for holding food objects for transport with minimal spillage.